INTRO

When Sandra Buyck joined Titto as a designer, she immediately acknowledged Titto's strengths and unique DNA. The Belgian brand is known for its endless mixing and matching of materials and playful, surprising designs as well as its use of natural and semiprecious stones. A clean slate was never necessary, however, Sandra did come across the seasonal challenge to keep surprising the Titto woman with new styles that match her personal style evolution.

This autumn/winter 2019 season, Titto is embracing our love for the usage and respect of natural elements by focusing even more on one Titto's key characteristics: natural and semiprecious stones. While they have always been a part of Titto's designs, the integration of these natural stones is omnipresent throughout the AW19 collection.

These colourful stones enhance the natural elements of Titto's collection ranging from leather and fabric elements to colourful fur pompons and beaded details. Aside from bringing the designs to a higher level, these natural and semiprecious stones are stepping up their own game on a whole other level, namely: their colour nuances. For AW19 Titto's natural stones no longer stick to one colour scheme, but up the ante by showcasing different hues within the same stone, sometimes even with gold or silver tones for an even more festive approach.

This colourful approach is typical for Titto and is felt throughout the different seasons and different themes within each season. Where 'Botanical blue' takes you on a walk through a moonlight lit winter garden, 'Amber green' brings warmth and golden hues to the season. 'Queen of hearts' adds more feminine and romantic tones into the season's mix and 'Winterbird' in its turns provides a necessary indulgence of cosiness and soft to the touch materials. As you've grown used to, each theme comes with a variety of necklaces, bracelets, earrings and scarves that can be mixed in and outside each of the set colour palettes and moods.

While it's Titto's and Sandra's mission to keep surprising the Titto woman, it's you that continues to surprise Titto. Each Titto woman is known to mix, match and style each item in her own particular ways, according to her own style and aesthetic for the day. That's what we hope for, that's what we love. Stay yourself, be true to yourself and style Titto your own unique way.

TITTO

Titto's autumn/winter 2019 collection offers so many new options and choices that it's hard to believe that designer Sandra Buyck still had time to sleep. From pompon hats and leather gloves with fur details to luxurious ponchos, duelling textures, new practical closures systems and innovative new necklace designs... everything was done to surprise the Titto woman while remaining true to Titto's vision and identity.

The Belgian brand's motto for 'more is more' can, therefore, be felt in the entire collection. More natural stones, more semiprecious stones, more colour, more texture... In other words: more fun. This approach allows the Titto woman more than ever to style each item according to her mood and to interpret each seasonal theme her own way.

The new seasonal additions can be found within the various themes. While the soft fur and faux-fur elements are ever present in the fluffy 'Winterbird' collection, metallic and golden touches and sparkles can be found in romantic 'Amber green' and seductive 'Queen of hearts'. 'Botanical blue' in its turn embraces the floral elements in dainty earrings and flower leaflet laser cuts.

While each theme has its own colour palette and vision, the fun and Titto spirit lies within the endless combinations you can make within and outside of each theme. By mixing and matching you can create your own unique vision, from 'Queen of birds' to 'Amber botanical'.

SANDRA

If you're looking for a true visionary chameleon, Sandra Buyck is your woman. The young and new designer at De Spiegelaere has a strong set of ideas and the passion to realise them. Starting out as a photography student, Sandra soon noticed that fashion would always find its way through her work. "I constantly found myself creating details and small accessories to make my portraits stronger, to add a sense of fashion to them," she explains. "I decided that I wanted to be able to make these things professionally and enrolled to become a goldsmith. I'm a firm believer in the power of combining multiple talents. They make each other stronger. I'm able to combine my vision as a photographer to that of me as a jewellery designer. An incredible advantage if I may say so myself (laughs)."

After her studies Sandra moved to London to work for accessories label Michelle Lowe-Holder. There she finally had the chance to combine all her different assets in order to create conceptualised collections and imagery. After London, the travel bug in Sandra had awoken and she set out to China, to showcase her photography and jewellery work. There a whole new world, filled with inspiration and materials, opened up to her and her own label, Inzane Jewellery. It's China that ultimately forged the link between this young designer and Titto. "Titto selects all their raw materials in China, from fabrics to freshwater pearls and semi-precious stones. Everything is found there," Sandra says enthusiastically. "That's also the power of Titto. Searching for the best stones. Real stones. No plastic materials. And still keeping everything affordable. It's extremely rewarding to work for a collection that takes such pride in the materials they use."

Staying true to the brand's craft, history and DNA, Sandra found a way to inject a bit of herself in her first collection. "I wanted to add some punch. A bit of drama," Sandra laughs. "Today's women are fierce, they've got balls and attitude. And the collection needs to represent that. When I'm designing, I take everything into account: the trend forecasts, our diverse customers, my own aesthetic and feel for what I find lacking in today's offer. All those elements are then combined with inspiration coming from art and music to travels." The new vibe can be felt strongly throughout the entire collection and yet you never have the feeling of dealing with a new brand. Sandra managed to add a fresher feel, a younger vibe to Titto, but stayed true to classics and timeless style. After all, that's the ultimate goal for all jewellery: "Stylish pieces that are unique but can stand the test of time."

NECKLACES

This autumn/winter 2019, Titto's endless options of short, long, statement and minimalist necklaces is everything you'll be lusting after. This season, jewellery trends shine the spotlight on mixing materials and layering necklaces in a thought through, put together way. There's a secret to a well-layered style and Sandra Buyck cracked the code: duality. It's this combination of lengths and different materials that make a gorgeous layered neckline look. So for AW19, Sandra focused on this alchemy between materials and ran with it. Matte finishes versus shiny, fabric chains, pendant metallic chokers, colourful beads, natural stone pendants, fluffy pompons or sleek statement pieces. Sandra let her imagination run wild and explored a range of new styles and possibilities. All of these pieces can be mixed together in response to the season's layered trend, but are also strong and timeless enough to be worn as a single statement piece.

As an extra addition, a completely new necklace style was created this season, the Y-necklace. The strength of this piece lies in its versatility. You can adjust the length according to your outfit, neckline and to the necklaces you're combining it with. Making it this season's essential for the perfect layered style.

BRACELETS

As fashion lovers, the word practical isn't one that often comes to mind when describing a collection. Yet, this AW19 season, Titto focused on practicality for its bracelets. Since wrapping and stacking bracelets can be a time-consuming hassle, designer Sandra Buyck decided to design innovative bracelets, but with a functional design. That's why a lot of this season's beautiful designs are made on elastic to easily slide on (or off) your wrist. Another innovation is the magnetic wrap bracelets, eliminating clumsy twists and turns with your wrist to close a tiny lock. But Titto wouldn't be Titto without adding its colours, quirkiness and materials into the mix. Leather that intertwines with metallic bangles, matte and glossy finishes, leopard prints, fabrics matched with colourful stones, soft fur (or faux-fur) and daintily beaded sets. Keep stacking or stick to a single favourite, but we believe in more is more. Especially when it's this easy, don't you agree?

EARRINGS

The Titto woman loves to wear jewellery and while she may opt for an arm party one day, she won't shy away from some ear candy the next day. For autumn/winter 2019, Sandra Buyck looked at Titto's earring collection like a real candy shop. Creating a wide variety of styles and shapes that can be mixed and matched accordingly. The playful elements this season are notably present in a stylish design with moving parts and frivolous floral leaflets that dance in the wind. The sculptural flower shapes are designed close to the ear but maybe a more classic hoop has already got you sold. Finished with coloured gemstones, soft pompons and enamelled colour palettes, you'll be like a kid in a candy store: spoiled for choice.

SCARVES

What's an autumn/winter season without a gorgeous new scarf? This season, Titto expands its wrap styles with even more prints, fabrics and options than before. From retro botanicals or subtle sparkles to wild animal prints and unique metallic weave techniques in gold or silver, there's a style for every outfit and situation.

Aside from that, Titto enlarges its accessory range this autumn/winter 2019 season by adding three cosy pompon hats to its collection with matching leather gloves, finished with lush fur for extra warm hands. And just in case the cold gets to you even with a scarf, the new luxury poncho in native blue and mouse grey is sure to keep you warm and toasty.
